

Danny's Read, Roll, and Chat Dice Game

Take turns reading, rolling, and chatting about a book that you've read.

To make the dice:

1. Cut along the outside edge of the shape below, following the outer solid black lines.
2. Fold along the inner black lines, keeping the words to the outside.
3. Place glue on the gray sections and fold the cube together. If needed, secure the edges with tape. Print on heavy paper or cardstock to make a sturdier dice (optional).

To play the game:

1. Choose a book. Look at the cover and read the title.
2. Read the story to yourself, with a partner, or have someone read the story to you.
3. Gently roll the dice on the floor or on the table.
4. Read and answer the question on the dice about the story.
5. Roll again and answer another question.
