

Let's look outside Danny's Window. What do you see? What could you hear? What could you smell? Can you find Danny, Bee, and Dad? What are they doing? How do you know it's November?

A black and white line drawing of a whimsical autumn scene viewed through an open window. The scene is filled with various autumn-themed elements. In the foreground, a pair of binoculars lies on the windowsill to the left, and a cup of tea with a cookie sits on the right. The view outside shows a path leading through a corn maze towards a farm with a barn and silo. A scarecrow stands in the field. To the right, there are several apple trees; one has a sign that says "LOST DOG" and another has a sign that says "APPLES". A dog is visible near the "LOST DOG" sign. A witch is flying in the sky, and a hot air balloon is also visible. A paper airplane is flying in the upper right. A spider is on a web in the upper left. In the foreground, there are pumpkins, a broom, a rake, and a fence. The scene is decorated with many leaves and flowers.
